News Proud to Partner with the City of Austin and the Downtown Austin Alliance to Host Kids Week June 9, 2015 Proud to Partner with the City of Austin and the Downtown Austin Alliance to Host Kids Week On June 9th, the City of Austin and Downtown Austin Alliance are excited to host the third annual Kids Week in the City of Austin, celebrating the contributions our community makes and the people who make it all possible. In addition to many of our offices and the Downtown Austin Alliance opening their doors to the public, a Kids Week Fiesta presented by Gatorade will be held to celebrate the week. Over the past three years, Kids Week has taken place throughout June, celebrating the city's most prominent corporations and organizations, including The University of Texas, South by Southwest (SXSW) and the Austin Music Awards. As the only year-round festivals in Austin, Kids Week events bring together free educational programming, festive games, summer-inspired activities and a family-friendly atmosphere to encourage people of all ages to get involved in Austin's cultural, educational and family-friendly destinations. Kids Week will be hosted by Mayor Steve Adler. Starting at 9:30AM on Thursday, June 4, 2015 (kids day), registration will be open at all Kids Week fiesta locations and ATX Beerfest, until 5:00PM. Food will be served, games will be available, and the Fiesta Village is set up for the three-day event. On Kids Day, families will be given a

Kids Week-themed bean bag toss, a raffle ticket, an Austin-themed gift bag, a raffle ticket, and a souvenir Kids Week pint glass. You will then have the opportunity to enjoy free playtime and activities at our Kids Week fiesta locations and Austin City Hall. More fun events will take place throughout the week of Kids Week, including night time festivities at a few fiesta locations. Kids Week is a partnership between Austin City Hall, the Downtown Austin Alliance and Children at Risk. For more information about Kids Week, visit www.KidsWeek.org and follow the conversation on social media, on our website, and on our Facebook page.Vision on Community Development I don't recall exactly how many years have passed since I graduated from Evangel University with a Master's Degree in Community Development and began working with Jeff and Jan Behymer in 2001. Though the journey has had its ups and downs, we have watched God use this community in

is the debut album by Canadian band The Trews. It was released in Canada on April 8, 2002 via Universal Music Canada. The album was produced by Mike Fraser of The Glue Surgeons. Ignition was a precursor to the band's self-titled debut album, which was released on September 9, 2002. The album was well received by critics, with reviewers deeming it, along with the self-titled album, to be the best releases of the year. As of August 2014, the album has sold over 5,600 units in Canada, making it certified gold by Music Canada. Background The album was written primarily by guitarist and vocalist Andy Trew, with the exception of "It Is Not Over Yet," which was written by Fred Kinsella. The album was recorded in the summer and fall of 2001 at Red

Wing Studio in Vancouver, British Columbia, where the band was joined by producer Mike Fraser. Prior to the recording session, the band were requested by Universal to record a song that would be released with their self-titled debut album, which resulted in the song "Without You." The album's final track, "Inner Jeans," was intended for the project but was used for an unreleased Billy Talent song. On the day of the album's recording, it became known that the band's keyboardist Richard Raymond was under the effects of a drug overdose, leaving the band with no keyboardist for a period of four months. It was believed that Raymond had overdosed in the studio on heroin, after which he lost consciousness and was hospitalized. In an interview with the Vancouver Sun, Trew indicated that Raymond had been using drugs, for "20 years," although he had quit due to "priorities" having been raised. Trew claimed that his relationships with the drugs had changed from recreational to "a dependency." Raymond died on April 26, 2013, from a drug overdose. Critical reception Upon release, Ignition received widespread critical acclaim, being proclaimed the best album of the year by publications like the Vancouver Sun, the Georgia Straight, and the Hamilton Spectator. The album was named the best album of the year by music webzines Tracks Magazine, Now Magazine, and Rave Magazine, as well as the album of the year by reviews aggregator the AV magazine. Commercial performance Ignition was a commercial success in Canada, debut
